

ASN Accepts Seven Students For Membership

The Rev. Matthew G. Sullivan, S. J., Dean of the College, recently announced the approval of the seven newly-elected members of the Alpha Sigma Nu, Jesuit National Honor Fraternity. Special permission was obtained from the national council to conduct the elections at this time of the scholastic year.

The new members of the Loyola Chapter are as follows: James Bailey, Richard Hartman, James O'Neill, Allan Panuska, Thomas Gisriel, John Plunkett and Aloysius Galvin.

Induction In February

Mr. Dudley Shoemaker, president of the college chapter, stated that the investiture ceremonies would be held sometime during February.

He also mentioned that the present candidates were elected now because of graduation in January. There will be another election of members in May or June.

All Outstanding Students

Each of the new members has contributed much to the College during his stay at Loyola. Bailey, Gisriel and Galvin have all played on the Varsity basketball team in addition to their participation in numerous activities about the campus. Richard Hartman has been most active in the athletic office in his position as Athletic Publicity Director.

James O'Neill has been outstanding at the school as an expert in electronics. He served as President of both the Math and Physics societies. Plunkett and Panuska have played important parts in the publications of the GREYHOUND and the Evergreen. Plunkett was Managing Editor of THE GREYHOUND and Panuska is Editor-in-Chief of this year's annual.

Membership in ASN demands that the students be in the upper fourth of their class. All the new members have fulfilled this requirement.

I. R. C. Meets At Cornell April 1

Loyola's International Relations Club, under President Sidney L. Shapero, will participate in an International Relations Conference at Cornell University on April 1-4. Four members of the club, chosen by Mr. Harry W. Kirwin, club moderator, will represent either Canada, the Philippine Islands or Turkey.

The conference will be set up along the lines of the United Nations meetings, and each country's problems will be discussed with attempts made to solve them.

Graduation of former president Edward Barrett necessitated the election of new officers. Sidney L. Shapero was chosen president, and Martin Klein was elected secretary-treasurer.

During the next semester, ending in May, the group will take up the various aspects of this country's problems. In announcing the work before the club for the coming term, Mr. Kirwin stated that attendance and interest has increased considerably.

Evening School Enrollment Up

by C. Rodgers Kines

The Loyola College Evening School opens its new term with a student enrollment of 521, an addition of ten professors to the faculty and a planned series of Spring lectures, it was announced by the Rev. John A. Wise, S. J., Dean of the Evening School.

Teaching a class in Epistemology is the Rev. Louis Wilson, S. J., a member of the faculty of the University of San Francisco. Mr. William R. Waters, a Loyola graduate of '42, who is studying for his Doctorate in Economics with a minor in Philosophy at Georgetown, will conduct a class in The Philosophy of Communism.

Adolescent Psychology Taught

Miss Marceline Shea, a graduate of Notre Dame College in '45 and a candidate for a Master's Degree in Social Service at Catholic University, will conduct classes in The Sociology of the Family. She is on the staff of the Catholic Charities and is specializing in Child Welfare.

Dr. John J. O'Connor of the Georgetown Foreign Service School, who received his A. B., M. A., and Ph. D. degrees from Georgetown, will hold classes in Epistemology. Adolescent Psychology will be taught by the Rev. Louis Bannon, S. J., who received his Doctorate in Catholic Education at Catholic University and is a member of the California Jesuit Province.

Other New Instructors

Dr. Arthur Gerard Madden, a member of the faculty of Mount Saint Agnes College, who received his doctorate from Fordham University, will hold classes in Logic. Mr. Elra M. Palmer, of the Secondary School of the Department of Education of Maryland and Director of Adult Education at Patterson Park High School, is teaching classes in Applied Methods in Science.

Classes in Religious Methods are being taught by Sister Marie Charles, M. H. S. H., who received her M. A. in Speech and Education from New York University. She has done catechetical work with the Mission Helpers of the Sacred Heart for many years.

Miss L. Merle Smuck is conducting classes in Audio-Visual Aids. She is a candidate for a Master's Degree in Education and is working with the Department of Education.

Frosh Meet In Gym Today For Election of Officers

Seven Freshmen were nominated as candidates for Freshman officers in the class elections held on Friday, Dec. 16. The nominees are as follows: Samuel Althoff, Edward Clarke, Charles Wittstadt, William Dempsey, Milton Harris, Royce Upton and Francis Vogel.

Four officers were chosen from these seven men in the elections which were held in the gym this morning. With the exception of Althoff and Upton, these same students comprised the temporary board of directors which conducted class business during the first semester. Charles Wittstadt served as president of the board.

Dudley Shoemaker, President of the Student Council, expressed disappointment at the number of Freshmen who appeared to vote in the recent nominations. He further urged all presidents and moderators of school activities to attempt to arouse interest in today's final elections.

"It is most important that the Freshman class elect a good man to the office," said Shoemaker, "since this student will represent the class in the Student Council and in all student activities until elections next year."

Good News

The office of the Dean has announced that the rule which states that students who obtain an average of 90% or over in a subject may be exempted from taking the semester examinations will remain in effect for the coming semester.

Radio Discussion Features Debaters

Five members of the Robert Bellarmine Debating Society of Loyola College represented the Society in a round table discussion broadcast over Station WITH on Sunday, January 11.

The broadcast was the seventy-first in a series entitled, "Give Your Child His Birthright." It was sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Representing Loyola were Donald Fay, Eugene Welch, Daniel Mackey, Lawrence Mooney and Winston Kourey. Loyola chose as its topic for discussion a Declaration of Human Rights.

The program marked Loyola's second appearance on the current series.

New Cut System Rules

1. Absence from any class, laboratory assignment, class test or examination constitutes a class absence. Absences are counted from the first day of class in any course.
2. The maximum number of absences from class permitted within a semester (without question of credit loss) is equal to the number of hours of class taught in one week in that subject. Thus if there are three classes taught in English in one week, three cuts constitute the number of cuts allowed within that semester for the subject.
3. If a student is late three times for a class or if he is late as much as fifteen minutes for one class, his tardiness counts as an absence.
4. A student may be excused for absence if they are incurred because of sickness, death in his immediate family or if the absences were made in the common interest of the college, with proper authority.

Heffner Named New Quarterly Editor

William Heffner was appointed Executive Editor of the Evergreen Quarterly to replace John H. Plunkett who is being graduated next month. Heffner has served in the position of Layout Editor for the past year.

In announcing his appointment, Mr. G. Edward Herzer, moderator of the Quarterly, announced also that the next issue of the Quarterly will be published about the first of March.

Heffner's appointment was the only change made on the staff. Shoemaker will continue in his post as Chairman. Francis X. Gallagher will remain Copy Editor. All associates will continue to serve in their regular positions.

The March issue of the magazine will feature an article written by the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., President of Loyola College. Father Talbot is a well-known Catholic writer and author, having served as Editor of America and also having published a biography of St. Isaac Jogues.

ALUMNI DOINGS

By Edward A. Doehler, '30

Committee of One Hundred

Membership Chairman Jerome J. Egan '32, in a letter accompanying the 1948 bill for Alumni Association dues, has asked for the formation of a "Committee of One Hundred" composed of interested Alumni willing to become Sustaining Members of the Association. In the plan of Chairman Egan, the $25.00 payments by the one hundred members of the Committee will assure the fixed expenses of the Association for the year including salary of a secretary, office supplies and postage. Other dues received and income from Alumni events and activities can then be applied to the task of making the Association more interesting and appealing to the members through the holding of more invitation affairs. With its financial problems guaranteed, the Association can give its full attention to such important undertakings as the preparation and publication of an Alumni Directory, activation of professional and business groups within the Association and the sponsoring of more class reunions and inter-class activities. Chairman Egan's appeal closes with the request: "Your ACTIVE MEMBERSHIP in the Association and your effort to induce others to become active is EARNESTLY solicited". Lets get behind the Membership Chairman! Remember: It takes ACTIVE Alumni to make an ACTIVE Association!

Banquet Reminder

That you may not forget,—the Annual Alumni Banquet will be held at the Emerson Hotel, Main Ballroom, Tuesday, March 30, 1948. Guest Speaker of the occasion,—Hon. James A. Farley. Dedication of Banquet—to the members of the legal profession within the Association.

Chairman Clarence J. Rodgers is forming the committee that will handle arrangements for the Banquet. Francis B. Burch and Carl F. Gottschalk have been appointed by Chairman Rodgers as members in charge of planning the dedication to the lawyers. It is hoped that every Loyola lawyer will be present on March 30 to pay tribute to the outstanding men of their profession numbered among the Alumni of the college.

NSA News

Mr. Joseph Zebley, Regional President of the National Student Association, announced in an interview with Winston Kourey, Loyola delegate, that all state and religious schools do not have to accept the By-Laws when they ratify the constitution.

This answered the recent objection Loyola voiced at a regional meeting at Howard University in November. Dudley Shoemaker, President of the Student Council and former delegate to the N.S.A. claimed that when the National Constitution was ratified by 150 colleges from all parts of the country, the By-Laws were not.

Loyola's Student Council objected strongly to by-law III which would allow the students to invite anyone to come to Loyola and speak on any subject he wished. It was due to this objection that Loyola refused to ratify the regional constitution if at the same time it had to accept the By-Laws.

Open Council Meetings Marked By Larger Student Attendance

An increasing student attendance marked the third open meeting of the Student Council in the Gymnasium on Friday, January 16.

James F. O'Neill, chairman of the Public Address System Committee, reported that he had conferred with the Dean on installing a public-address system in the school, and that the matter was being taken into consideration. The Rev. Matthew J. Sullivan, S.J., reported that a decision would be rendered in the near future.

Ticket Reservations Banned

Robert Sweeney, chairman of the Basketball Ticket Distribution Committee, said in a report to the Council that he had discussed the matter of ticket distribution with Lefty Reitz. Although a class had reserved tickets for the Seton Hall game in advance, this practice will be banned in the future. The Council decided that the present method of ticket distribution is the best possible under prevailing conditions.

THERE'S STILL ROOM—The GREYHOUND photographer snapped this picture of the parking lot on one of those rare days when more than a dozen cars were parked there. Even then, there's a little unused space.

Check Reveals Parking Lot Is Seldom Filled

by John Lentz

A check made at various times throughout each day last week, of the new parking lot in the Dell revealed that at no time was there more than twenty-five cars on the lot, and that the number seldom exceeded ten.

In an effort to find the reason for student disregard of an expensive new facility, numerous students who drive to school were picked at random and asked this question, "Why don't you use the parking lot?"

No Good Reasons

Some students were hesitant, and finally admitted that they could think of no reason except that they had habitually parked on Cold Spring Lane before the construction of the parking lot and were unwilling to park on the campus unless no other space was available.

Others advanced the reason that whenever possible they parked on the road between the Faculty House and the Dell so that they could leave their books in the car and pick them up as they needed them without being late for class.

Criticize Lot

More serious criticisms were offered by students who thought the parking lot "a poor piece of work." "The surface," said one, "should be of hard macadam instead of packed earth. In rainy weather the lot turns to mud, and when the rain stops, the ruts are frozen or baked hard. One entrance grade is too steep; when it gets wet or is covered with snow or ice it becomes so slippery that it is impossible. Any car going down the slope is likely to skid, possibly into another car."

Too Slippery

Another driver, echoing the statements about the poor quality of the surfacing and grading, added that "if it happens to snow while a student is in class, there is a chance that he may not get his car out of the lot if the entrances become slippery."

In answer to this last criticism, Fr. Arthur stated that at the present time there are no plans for improving the surface or grading of parking lot, but admitted that the student response has so far been disappointing.

used to defray the costs of the annual Christmas party that was held for the children of St. Elizabeth's Orphanage.

The Publicity Committee has planned a very attractive program and patron list. Anyone who contributes fifty cents or more toward the dance will be listed on the program.

Corsages Out

The Dance Committee believes that the precluding of corsages will meet the approval of all the couples.

For student body opinion concerning the policy of "no corsages" at semi-formal dances, please see the next issue of THE GREYHOUND.

Staff Members

There will be a meeting of all GREYHOUND Staff members in THE GREYHOUND Office on Monday, February 2 at 12:30 p.m. If anyone finds it impossible to attend, please contact one of the Editors.

Dell Building will begin as soon as weather permits. A landscape engineer has already laid out the plans.

Phone Service Discussed

Francis Mueller, director of the school's intra-mural program addressed the Council and offered the suggestion that the two free periods on Friday be left open for intra-mural games. This matter will be taken up with the Dean for his ruling.

Winston Kourey raised an objection to the suspension of telephone service because of television broadcasts of games. The Rev. Francis X. Talbot, Rector of Loyola, said that steps were being taken to install new telephone outlets to correct this situation.

Library Plans Two Displays

A drive for student hobbies to be displayed in the Library will begin next Monday, according to Miss Mary Rose, Assistant Librarian. Simultaneous with the hobby exhibits will be a display of company books of the veterans.

"Student cooperation is requested on both of these projects," Miss Rose said. "Success of the exhibits will depend entirely on how the students respond. Any student with a hobby is urged to speak to the Librarian or a member of THE GREYHOUND staff, and veterans with company books are requested to bring them into the Library any time after Monday."

A special table will be set aside for the books, and none of them will be allowed outside of the Library. The Library will do whatever possible to protect the books during the exhibit, but it is not responsible for them, Miss Rose added.

Sodality Names New Officers

by Ted Evans

Because some of its senior officials are being graduated in February, the Senior Sodality found it necessary at its January ninth meeting to elect several new men as replacements.

Bailey Prefect

James Bailey, who held the position of vice-prefect, advances to the post of prefect, left vacant by the graduation of George Buchness. Edward Rommel takes up the duties of vice-prefect, and Richard Hartman succeeds John Plunkett as treasurer. George Medairy remains secretary.

Also under discussion at this meeting was the possibility of having a convention of college sodalities throughout the country to be

It was recently announced that the May '46 Junior Class will hold a stag party tonight at the Budweiser Club Room, 650 W. Pratt St. George Uchuck, class president, stated that the price of admission would be $.75.

Aiding Mr. Uchuck in organizing the party are Phillip Hauswald, chairman of arrangements, Dick Tommey, in charge of publicity, and Mickey Parr, class talent scout. Mr. Parr has already contacted the best in class talent, and expressed the hope that many would respond. Tommey plans to contact each member of the class personally in order to assure a large attendance.

The stag party will be a closed affair, and only members of the junior class will be permitted to attend.

Hubbard Wins Mr. Sh-h-h Contest Winner Names Charles Jordan

by Don Fay and Cy Keller

Francis (Fra) Hubbard, freshman in the A. B. course, is the winner of THE GREYHOUND Mr. Sh-h-h Contest. Hubbard correctly identified Mr. Charles F. Jordan, instructor in Spanish and Speech, as Mr. Sh-h-h, and will receive as first prize in the contest five cartons of Chesterfield cigarettes, donated by the Liggett and Meyers Company.

Missing only one clue contained in the eight line poem which was published in the last two issues of THE GREYHOUND, Hubbard was declared winner in the contest although eleven other entries also named Mr. Jordan as the subject of the poem. Twenty-five ballots were stuffed in the January 16 issue, and those receiving blanks identified Mr. Sh-h-h, giving reasons for their interpretation of the clues.

Eleven Name Jordan

Hubbard entered Loyola in September after being graduated last June from Calvert Hall College. Those who also named Mr. Jordan as Mr. Sh-h-h were: Ralph Bailey, James Burke, Thomas Coady, H. L. Hearst, Carroll Jenkins, Jim Kaufman, Gerard Kimmitt, R. G. Knoerlein, C. J. Kulacki, Jim Laster and Charles E. Nolan, Jr.

The winner explained every clue except the word "compare" in the sixth line of the poem. Complete explanation of the clues follows:

Now I am close to the college
Once I was two blocks away

These lines refer to Charles St., which is now close to the college, but was once two blocks away from the college, since Loyola was once at Calvert and Madison Sts. This indicates his first name, Charles.

DON'T LOOK NOW BUT Francis Hubbard, winner of the GREYHOUND Mr. Sh-h-h contest, is pointing to Mr. Sh-h-h in the flesh, Mr. Charles F. Jordan.

The best schools end in A

This refers both to Loyola and to the University of Alabama. Jordan was graduated from the latter in 1934.

Compare 10 and 4-0

This line, which even only Hubbard answered partially, applies to the initials and the office of Mr. Jordan. The word compare or confer can be abbreviated "Cf." when used in footnotes and bibliography of a term paper. Since "ten" refers to the tenth letter of the alphabet, J, the words "compare ten" give his initials, C. F. J.

Not Forty

4 0, which is not forty as most interpreted, but 4-0, refers to D-15, the office in the dell where Mr. Jordan is stationed. The fourth letter in the alphabet is D, and O is the fifteenth letter in the alphabet. These two together make D-15.

Almonds and baptisms proclaim my fame

Every one who returned blanks answered this line correctly. Jordan is a well known species of almonds, and the Jordan river is famous for numerous baptisms in the time of Christ.

The other lines, were inserted to help the rhyme scheme but do indirectly refer to Mr. Jordan. Had Hubbard been able to detect the "compare" clue, he would have received in addition to the cigarettes a five dollar cash prize.

Professor To Give Talk At Enoch Pratt

Mr. William-M. J. Driscoll, S. J. will present a lecture on the afternoon of Feb. 4 in the Poe Room of the Enoch Pratt Library. The subject of the lecture is Gerard Manley Hopkins, renowned English Jesuit Poet. The address is the eighth in this year's series of talks entitled Afternoons With the Poets.

Mr. Driscoll is professor of English and Classical Literature at the College.

New Pay Phones Installed To Relieve Television Trouble

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. is completing the installation of two new pay phones for the use of the student body. One will be in the Science and one in the Library building.

It was found that the new phones were necessary since the regular phones are used for the broadcasting of the basketball games by television and are ordinarily taxed beyond capacity.

The phone company's men found it necessary to erect a new pole and to string new wire from the regular Cold Spring Lane line to the Science and Library buildings.

Now's Your Chance

Now that exams are over, you have more time to yourself. Why not make some of that time profitable and beneficial by joining one of the many societies we have at Loyola?

Part of your college education should consist in learning how to work in unison with others in worthy projects. You don't learn that in the classroom alone. You learn by doing.

Join a club whose activities appeal to you. Don't wait until the leader of your clique joins, lead the way yourself.

Reduce Now And See How People Say Wow

Many of my admirers and relatives have asked me to relate the secret of my beauty and the key to my girlish figure. "Mida," they say, "you certainly are well-preserved for your age. No one, not even Barnum, himself, would ever guess that you have long since passed the half century marker."

So, reluctantly and with a sigh of good fellowship, I am going to set forth for posterity the main ways by which I have kept my waistline around my waist.

There are two main diets which I propose. The first is a two day diet which knocks off thirty pounds before you can raise your emaciated cadaver from the dinner table. The second is a two year diet and I guarantee you that even your worst enemy, husband excluded, will never know you.

Diet No. 1. Breakfast—a half glass of water followed by the scrapings off the side of a burnt piece of toast. For Dinner—left over scrapings from breakfast and water left in the glass from breakfast. For Supper (This Will Tickle You)—Roast feathers of ostrich on rye (bread, that is). End of first day—not quite the end of you.

Second Day: (Doomsday) For Breakfast—Scrapings from other side of burnt toast you had yesterday. Take three pretzels, remove salt particles and eat slowly chewing thirty-two times on each particle. For Dinner—sour pickle on toothpick. For Supper—you don't feel like eating, you're stuffed.

Diet No. 2. Breakfast—Beer and Ale. For Dinner—Scotch and soda followed by gin followed by loud belching. For Supper—Champagne, caviar and vodka. I recommend this diet only to my best friends because I do not believe that the common man should live on liquids alone—except in experienced cases, like myself.

Thee you tomorrow. Hick!

Fault-Finding?

Looking ahead to '48, Notre Dame's Columns hopes to see—among other things—"Settlement of the 'foreign relations' policy that exists between us and a nearby college. (Perhaps a fault-finding and an arbitration board would help.)"

According to latest survey reports, Loyola seems to be the nearest nearby college, so we take it that the paragraph refers to us. In that case, we heartily second the motion.

One point, however, doesn't appeal to us very much. Instead of fault-finding—which always does more harm than good—let's proceed to arbitration and the eventual restoration of the ill-fated tea dances and other affairs.

We're ready for peace pow-wows, Columns. You may have the privilege of naming time and place.

Divide and Conquer

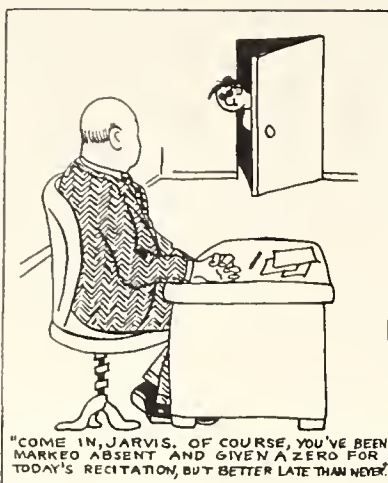

Dudley Shoemaker—Loyola's delegate to the Madison convention of the NSA—received last week a stirring sixteen page report on the convention entitled "Student America Convenes!" The writer of the pamphlet was one Marvin Shaw, further identified as a member of The Council of Student Clubs, Communist Party.

Marvui, working in typical party fashion, attempts in this pamphlet to use the "Divide and Conquer" method, employed so effectively in the past by both Communists and Fascists. The wedge, in this instance, is driven between the Catholic college student and his reactionary enemy, the Catholic hierarchy of the United States.

To gain the support of Catholic college students, the writer deplores the fact that there is religious discrimination which prevents them from attending some schools. He also maintains that the NSA must maintain contact and cooperation with active national organizations, among them the NFCCS.

Shaw drives home the point that the hierarchy is acting contrary to our interests by attempting to prove that they are opposed to anti-discriminatory legislature and that the hierarchy is also trying to control Catholic student participation in the NSA.

Mr. Shaw dedicated a special section of his discussion to the activities of Catholic students at the convention, and a single sentence in this section intrigued us more than anything else in the entire pamphlet.

let. "On most controversial issues, however," he wailed, "a previously agreed-upon position was quite evident" (on the part of Catholic students attending the convention.)

What Mr. Marvin Shaw doesn't realize is that this position was agreed upon long before either the NSA or the Communist Party were founded. Catholic college students—whether they come from Bangor, Baltimore, New Orleans or San Francisco—are unalterably opposed to communism in whatever form it should appear. Their cells—the parish church and the Catholic school—are more strongly united than the Communist party cells could ever hope to be.

Any attempt, Mr. Shaw, to put

Dear Miss Frust Rated:

I am eighty-eight years of age and am very much enamored of a young lady of seventy-five. Although I am a confirmed bachelor and have never been out with a woman, I feel that true love has come to me at last.

My problem is this. I am quite deaf and so is she. I would like to tell her about the way I feel, but she wouldn't understand me. Even if she could, I know that I wouldn't understand her.

What should I do. I am afraid to write to her about it because it would appear that I am afraid to speak for myself and this is not true.

Please give me your advice before I become too feeble to take it. I await your answer with bated breath.

Old Timer

Well, Old Timer, I know that you are not kidding about this new love. After 88 years, I believe that you should know what is best for you. I am sorry about your obstacles and I suggest you take my advice. My advice is this: Drop dead.

Dear Woman:

I am a girl of fifteen and have been in love for a long time with six boys, A, B, C, D, E and F. I like B, D, E and F better than A but less than C. But F, D and E do not like me as much as B, A, and C. But A likes me much more than he likes my girl friend O.

O loves them all too but she is better looking than I and her father is a bank president. Her father is a nice man and I like him too. In fact I like everybody. What should I do?

Mixed Up.

You seem like a sensible girl. That is to say, you seem as sensible as most girls your age. However, that makes it tough for you.

My advice is this. If your girl friend O's father is a widower, marry him. It's leap year and after all, there's no theory like pragmatism.

the Catholic college student at odds with either the hierarchy or with any other group of fellow-Catholics is—as the scholastics express it—theoretically absurd and practically impossible.

Frosh Elections

This morning the Freshman class goes to the polls to elect the officers who will represent them in the Student Council and at other campus activities during the coming year.

Last Friday seven members of the class were nominated as candidates to run in the election this morning. The only difficulty was that no more than forty of a class of three hundred odd bothered to vote in the nominations.

Remember, frosh, that all of your pleas and petitions must be directed through your class officers. Then go out and vote—all three hundred of you—for those candidates who will best serve your purposes.

The Critilog

by George Herman

Under normal conditions (as all good philosophers say) there are two requirements for an adventure picture woven distractively with history, as if the scenario was 50 pages short, so they added the third chapter from Toynbee. These requirements are, namely, a set of "characters" who must wave either swords or handkerchiefs, play either fobs or cutthroats and speak words; and a story.

Now, according to these principles, The Exile is average.

I probably wouldn't have bothered to see it at all if I hadn't heard that Maria Montez raised quite a storm over Hollywood because Douglas Fairbanks was billed over her in the picture's writeups and on the theatre marquees. So I went to see why she squawked.

I still don't know.

Miss Montez has a walk-on part. She comes into the picture with a music box for Mr. Fairbanks. She gives him the box, taking time out for a bath, and then hops in her coach and is never seen again. Total playing time—approximately fifteen minutes.

Meanwhile Mr. Fairbanks who is quite adept at leaping over everything in sight and waving swords like toothpicks in the manner of his father, does so every thirty minutes. In between times the writer has carefully written in horrible background music to give you an idea what "Roundheads" would sound like in fugue.

To enlighten matters, no one bothers to explain why it takes ten minutes playing time for a carrier pigeon to fly from Holland to England and ten minutes more for the guard to walk long hallways to get to a white-haired gentleman who might be Cromwell, George Bernard Shaw or Governor Warren.

However, if Miss Montez was serious about her gripe, I think Nigel Bruce should gripe because he had to be in it! And I seriously think, according to Miss Montez's principles, that top billing should go to Hodiak. He wasn't in the picture at all.

Editor, THE GREYHOUND
Dear Sir:

I think it is about time we rechristen the bi-weekly, The Basketball Journal. The last issue, January 16, 1948, had thorough coverage of six basketball games, but who read it thoroughly? Most just glanced at the scores. How much space was given to wrestling, I ask? You probably couldn't find it; a match was held last Saturday, but who knew about it except the wrestlers?

Swimming did fare pretty well last week. Surprising! It isn't that I am against basketball because I am one of the team's staunchest supporters. It is just that I want the wrestling team and swimming team to get their due publicity. This isn't only my opinion, but that of many others. If any other students think the same way, I wish they would let the editor know.

Jim Norris, Jr.

P. S. You did cross-country O. K. Now how about the other thankless sports? Basketball players or Lefty please don't take offense.

Editor's Note: To reader Norris, who judges us on the strength of a single issue, this information: the basketball team plays four times as many contests as the wrestlers, and to date THE GREYHOUND has given them 4.5 times as much publicity, a fair proportion. Also consider the fact that the basketball team is bringing Loyola national and intersectional recognition and their attendance receipts are helping the entire athletic program.

Running With The Hounds

Lacy-Led Hounds Ease Into Eastern Spotlight

by Don Fay, Sports Editor

For two and one half years now, we have seen Jim Lacy's point-producing wizardry pace Lefty Reitz's Greyhounds to unparalleled cage prominence not only in this area, but throughout the Eastern section of the country.

As everyone knows, Lacy racked up 667 points last year to rank second among all collegiate players in the United States as far as individual scoring was concerned. Since Cliff McNeeley of Texas Wesleyan, the number one man last year, has left college ranks, Lacy now is tops. And since Jim scored over 400 points in his freshman year, and is nearing the 300 mark this season, he has already scored nearly 1400 points himself in his college career.

This total, which represents a marvelous one-man record, so far has done nothing to help Lacy gain All-America recognition.

Several teams were chosen last year, none of which even mentioned the Loyola ace.

The latest crime to be committed by the so-called sports writers of the nation appeared in a recent issue of Sportfolio, a monthly country-wide sports digest. One hundred and eight basketball players were pictured in this particular edition, and each was given a brief writeup concerning his cage record. This group was supposed to represent the cream of the basketball crop this year. The name of Lacy was not among them.

We have come to the conclusion that our unbiased board of judges has passed over our representative because he hails from unheard-of Loyola of Baltimore. They are ignorant of the fact that the Reitzmen have won 13 and lost only 4 at this writing, that only Seton Hall, North Carolina and La Salle have been able to defeat the Lacy-led Hounds.

And this fact, that only four of the major powers in Eastern basketball have been able to topple the Green and Gray, is a tribute to Lacy, to the entire Loyola team and to its coach Lefty Reitz.

With any sort of luck, the Hounds could well be sporting a 15-1 record at this point. The two defeats at the hands of Seton Hall were undecided until the last moment, with the Hounds battling furiously to overcome the Pirate lead. The LaSalle tilt was apparently in the bag, until a freak, untimely break ruined a fine job by the Hounds and gave the Explorers a 64-62 victory.

In only the North Carolina fracas were the Hounds beyond reach when the last few minutes drew near. Only one game in sixteen showed the team suffering a poor shooting game throughout. It's unfortunate, too, that the one tilt had to be the much-billed N. C. contest.

However, the time for added prestige is just around the corner. Upsets over LaSalle and high scoring St. Francis of Brooklyn next week could skyrocket the Evergreen team into more prominence.

Villanova Action . . .

GIS GETS ONE—Tom Gisriel (21), Loyola center, is about to insert a field goal against Villanova in last Friday's contest at Evergreen. An unidentified Wildcat, attempting to thwart Gisriel's shot, fouled him, and the Loyolan made the foul shot in addition. One of three Hounds to hit double figures, Gisriel scored 12 points in the contest.

First Win In 19 Years

Villanova Trounced, 61-49 For Hounds' Twelfth Win

Lefty Reitz waited nineteen years to see one of his Loyola basketball teams defeat his alma mater, Villanova College. The event occurred last Friday night before a packed Evergreen gymnasium, as Jim Lacy, Mike Zedalis and Tom Gisriel hit double figures to pace the Hounds to a 61-49 triumph over the Wildcats.

The visitors from Pennsylvania, using an all-sophomore team, had lost only four contests before the game, and all of them by less than four points. Last week's thumping represented Loyola's third victory in the 23 year series.

Sabol Stars

Both teams started slowly, missing numerous fouls in the first quarter. Tom Sabol, star guard on the losers, kept them in the game with a one-hand push shot off the right hand. Sabol converted often in the second quarter and in the early portion of the third period, keeping Loyola from pulling away to a substantial lead.

Loyola owned a 31-22 lead at the half, due mainly to the outside shooting of Zedalis and Andy O'Donnell and the fast breaking tactics of Lacy, Gisriel and Bill Johnson. Sabol dunked in six quick points in the first five minutes of the second half to offer Villanova's most serious threat, but the Reitzmen retaliated quickly. Lacy threw in a long set shot to make the score 45-35, and Zedalis and Sabol exchanged goals to move the score to 49-39.

Villanova Misses Fouls

Loyola protected this lead through the waning minutes with Zedalis, Lacy and Gisriel converting

Coming Up

Hounds Face Four Foes

by Gene Corrigan

A trip to Chestertown, Maryland, tomorrow, and three of the toughest matches on the season's schedule in the near future, are facing the basketball squad. The perennially scrappy Sho'men will give the bone-weary Greyhounds no rest. They are noted for the opposition they always put before Loyola teams.

A week later the Hounds will greet St. Francis of Brooklyn. Joe Brennan's Terriers are rated among the best in leagues better than the M-D; their record of 15 and 7 for 1946-47, and one even more brilliant so far this year, has been earned in the bruising play of Metropolitan New York circles.

La Salle will pound the floorboards of the Evergreen gym the night of Tuesday, February 10. Those boards can well be expected to quiver. The Hounds spurred on by the rankling memory of their recent defeat by two points, should be burning to rip at the throats of the undefeated Explorers like so many wolves. Confident that no scoring mixup will hamper the smooth roll of their offense, the Evergreen squad should use their home court advantage to swarm all over the Philadelphia team.

Two days' rest, and Mt. St. Mary's will be in town eager for a Green and Gray pennant to drag in defeat. The Mountaineers are another nearby team noted for their vehemence towards the Reitzmen. They will do their best to disprove that charity begins at home as far as Maryland basketball is concerned.

Past performances against Mt. St. Mary's have totaled to 25 losses and 23 wins, two unknown. La Salle has taken Loyola for eleven of twelve matches. Washington has lost 30 and won 27 from the Greyhounds, and St. Francis earned five victories to Loyola's two. With these close past percentages, and the usual antagonistic attitude of visiting opponents, the Greyhounds expect to do some fast stepping for a time to avoid having their coats ruffled.

THE LINE-UP - Bill Johnson Chose Basketball Over Swimming

(This is the ninth in a series of articles on outstanding Loyola athletes.)

by Mickey Parr

Except for a decision made at the Baltimore Y. M. C. A. seven years ago, Bill Johnson might today be splashing his way to swimming achievements rather than sparkling as a first-string guard for Loyola's basketball team.

This brings an old twist to the story of a young fellow who about this time last season was plugging away as a fill-in substitute and now finds himself holding a regular spot with the Greyhound cagers. Bill, pairing with Andy O'Donnell at the other guard post, helps give Loyola a defensive duo who are outstanding in their art.

Swimming Or Basketball?

Johnson was 13 when he made his youthful choice. At the time he was a member of the junior swimming teams which stroked for the local 'Y' during the winter months, and was doing fairly well for himself. However, being in such close proximity to the institution's basketball court, he couldn't help but drift into an occasional fling at the game.

The result of this twin sport complex was the tank coach's announcement that Bill must devote his time exclusively to swimming if he wished to stay on the squad. But the basketball bug had bitten hard, and the future Loyola player elected to learn more of his newly discovered sport.

Gives Reitz Credit

Despite a good reputation built as a member of St. Paul's team in the Maryland Scholastic League, the husky lad, on his matriculation at Loyola, found his game a bit immature for steady college play. On numerous occasions he displayed spurts of the natural ability within him, but he was prone to wildness and too much of a hurry up attitude.

However, Bill took his basketball seriously and, under the tutelage of Coach Lefty Reitz, he cured those faults and developed into the standout that he is today.

Concerning his coach, Bill declares: "I think he's helped me out more than anyone else I've ever played for."

Holds Down McNeeley

The two big games in Johnson's career were made so in as many distinct departments of basketball play.

At the tail end of last season, when Loyola met Texas Wesleyan, he played a major role in holding Cliff McNeeley, the nation's top scorer, to a low of six points.

Then, on January 9 of this year, he almost singlehandedly overcame a commanding lead held by a hot Seton Hall quintet by pouring eight points through the hoop during the final three minutes. This spurt jacked his total to 17 for the evening, his largest aggregation compiled as a Loyolan.

Played At Poly, St. Paul's

During his prep school days Bill performed for two different organizations. His sophomore and junior years were spent as a member of the Polytechnic varsity, but he transferred to St. Paul's School for his senior term.

With the Crusaders Johnson gained an honorable mention for the All-Maryland Scholastic five, was second high scorer for his team, and ranked third in the Private School Conference.

In 1945 he ventured outside the schoolboy realm to lead the Lithuanian Americans in a second half drive from the cellar to a first place tie, in the Baltimore Basketball League, which is the top amateur loop in the city.

Scored 38 Points

His efforts as the Lith's leading point maker placed him on the All Star team. This output included 38 markers in one contest, a league record that still stands.

Bill is 20 years old, stands 5' 11½" and weighs in at 170 pounds.

Swimming

LaSalle Triumphs, 56-19; Hounds Gain Two Firsts

La Salle's mighty swimming squad splashed its way to a 56-19 win over Loyola on January 17 to bring the Hounds' record to 1-1.

The always powerful La Salle squad allowed Loyola only two first places, and except for these two, beld the Hound tank squad to a straight string of thbird spots.

Clint Bamberger led Geise of La Salle, and teammate Bill Klarner home in the 200 yard breaststroke. The Freestyle Relay entry of Jim Oaster, Bill Gehring, Jim Fisher and Manley Gately nosed out the La Salle quartet. Otherwise the Explorers beld top hand all the way; relaxing their grip momentarily to let these two last events be lost.

La Salle, featuring Joe Verdeur, world record breaker in the breaststroke, now has beaten American U. and Loyola. Verdeur swam only in the Medley Relay, which was finished in 3:00:07.

The boxscore:

300-Yard Relay—Won by LaSalle (George Shaw, Joe Verdeur, Jim Jones). Time—3:00.7.

200-Yard Freestyle—Won by Henry Lentzsch, LaSalle; second, Paul uvigiat, LaSalle; third, John Blondell, Loyola. No time.

50-Yard Freestyle—Won by John Lumsden, LaSalle; second, Frank Wahl, LaSalle; third, Jake Fisher, Loyola. No time.

Diving—Won by Paul Flack. LaSalle; second, Marty Gehlhaus, LaSalle; third, John Mohler, Loyola. 71.6 points.

100-Yard Freestyle — Won by James Doherty, LaSalle; second, Henry Furlong, LaSalle; third, Manley Gately, Loyola. Time—59.4.

150-Yard Backstroke—Won by Ed Richards, LaSalle; second, Clarence

Webb, LaSalle; third, Tom Maskell, Loyola. Time 1m. 48.4s.

200-Yard Breaststroke—Won by Clint Bamberger, Loyola; second, Ed Geise, LaSalle; third, Bill Klarner, Loyola. Time, 3m. 06s.

440-Yard Freestyle — Won by Lentzsch, LaSalle; second, William McCracken, LaSalle; third, Blondell, Loyola. Time, 5m. 26.3s.

400-Yard Freestyle-Relay — Won by Loyola (Oaster, Gehring, Fisher and Gately). Time, 4m. 27.1s.

Four Meets Listed

With the meet with the always dangerous La Salle team behind them, Franny Mueller's swimmers are looking ahead to four important meets listed during the next two weeks.

The University of Scranton will make an appearance at the Evergreen pool tomorrow afternoon for its first match of the season with Loyola's natators.

Another non-conference foe will furnish the opposition early next week when Rider College is met away on Wednesday.

Catholic University, a Masou-Dixon Conference member, visits the Hounds' home tank next Saturday afternoon for an important conference engagement.

Westchester, a Pennsylvania power, will play host to the water paddlers on the fourteenth.

Intramurals

Forced to postpone several post-exam intramural matches because of new class schedules and Friday activity meetings, Franny Mueller has issued a request for team captains to immediately report any such changes.

The basketball leagues are still picking up momentum. The Diz Kids are the best performers to date, as they have won three of three and are leading League III. Chilton Rompers, Seagram Seven and Mike Mechanics are at the top of their leagues. They each have won their two games to date. Johnson GloCoaters, at 1-0, are the first in League I.

Club league leaders are Visionaires (I) and Page (II). They each have won one game. This group has

Point Average Up To 60.4

Including the Western Maryland game last Saturday night at Evergreen, the varsity basketball team has hung up a 60.4 point scoring average for its first 17 games. Loyola's opponents have posted a 51.2 mark.

Lefty Reitz's courtmen hit their high mark of the season with a 75-41 win over Scranton University. Oddly enough, their lowest output was also against Scranton on the Tommies' court, 46-42.

The Hounds equaled this seventy-five point output against Western Maryland last Saturday night. The team scored 211 points in its three games last week for 70.3 record.

Terrors Defeated

Western Maryland Bows By 75-60; Zedalis Leads

Western Maryland's Green Terrors were converted into Loyola's sixth Mason-Dixon basketball victims of the 1947-48 season, losing by a 75-60 score last Saturday night at Evergreen.

Approximately 850 fans, braving the treacherous elements of the cold, watched a pair of hot cage teams throw in 135 points in a game that seesawed back and forth for a major portion of the first three periods.

The Terrors from Westminster, Md., paced by their one hand shot

Leo Lathroum, formerly of Southern High, and their tall center Walt Sibiski, ex-City star, kept apace with the Hounds throughout the first half, which ended with the Reitz boys on top, 29-28.

A vicious basket barrage by Loyola opening the third period pulled the home forces ahead to stay. Ten straight points were zipped through the cords during this period, and Loyola was away to a 41-28 bulge.

Mike Zedalis enjoyed one of his better shooting games and ranked first in individual scoring with 22 markers. Zedalis, fastest man on either team, consistently stole the ball and weaved through the opposition's defense for precious points. Jim Lacy, serving mainly in a feeder role in the first half, hit the cords almost without miss in the final half to rank second with 20 points.

Billy Johnson, augmenting his usual grand defensive game with a brilliant floor performance, also turned in ten points in the scoring column.

ZIG-ZAG ZEDALIS—Alert, rapid stepping Mike Zedalis hooped in 22 points to lead the Hounds to their sixth straight league win last Saturday night.

been the least active so far, as Our Lady's Committee, Vet's Club, (I), and Block L, and the Greyhound Clickers (II) have still to play a game.

Postponements on Tuesday and today set these schedules back a step. The newly announced periods forced cancellation of the Greyhound-Page and GloCoaters-Ginger Snaps contests on Tuesday, and the latest reports indicated a like fate for most of today's slate. The Trouble Shooter-Frantic Five, Hot Shot-Blanks, Our Lady's Committee-Accounting Club, Decrepit-Seagram, and Fleetwing-Chilton Romper classics were thus lost to posterity for another week or two.

Other Intra-mural competition currently being waged includes the Bowling League, and the soon to open Ping Pong Tournament. The Bowling should start today, with first round play due to be completed by Monday.

Ping Pong will start Monday. As previously announced, the Tournament will be run under the Intramural Tennis rules and all accessories will be provided by the A. A. At Publication time, the lists were not filled to overflowing.

Hounds Trip Scranton, 75-41

Loyola's eleventh victory came in a 75-41 defeat of a scrappy but overmatched Scranton squad on January 18.

Lefty Reitz was able to give his second and third string Hounds an airing, and the subs came through with a third of the total points. The scoring was evenly spread throughout the lineup, with Jim Lacy leading with eleven, and Bill Ferguson second with nine tallies. Andy O'Donnell sank all of his six free shots to rank third with Johnson, at eight marks each. Mike Zedalis stood even with Tom Gisriel, and they had seven points, as did Mike DeNoia, Scranton guard.

Mike Zedalis first lit the Loyola side of the scoreboard with one of his long set shots. Medvecky, leading Scranton scorer, came right back with a tying two. Captain Griglock next rang the bell for the Pennsylvanians, and they led 4-2.

Lacy then stepped to the line for the first of his nine foul shots. He was at his twenty-first consecutive successful free try. There were three more to be made before the first miss. For the day Jim hooped seven out of nine.

Bill Johnson, Andy O'Donnell and Mike Zedalis alternated with Scranton in goals and fouls for the rest of the quarter; the score at the break stood 11-11.

Barry, Feeley, Gallagher and Gisriel were entered into the scoring column during the next quarter; as was DeNoia for Scranton. Gisriel was awarded a double personal as well as a technical, when his Scranton guard fouled him and beefed overlong to the referee. The half ended with Loyola ahead at 28-17.

Early in the third session, Lefty turned the game over to the subs. Even with the Scranton first line thrown against them, the second stringers easily rolled up the points. Bill Schanberger, Jim Bailey, Frank Barrett, Buford Zephir, Herb Meinert and Bill Ferguson began supplementing the previous scorers and were still pouring goals through the netting at the final buzzer.

Texas Wesleyan Next Issue

Complete coverage of the Loyola-Texas Wesleyan basketball game played at the Coliseum last night will be given in the next issue of THE GREYHOUND, which will be published on February 13.

Due to the printing deadline, it was impossible to include any mention of the game in today's edition.

Mason-Dixon Basketball

Hopkins, Catholic U. Bow In Conference Contests

Lefty Reitz's Greyhounds moved to the front of the Mason-Dixon Conference cage chase with a pair of victories over Catholic University and Johns Hopkins. The Hounds downed the Cards, 72-50, in Washington, D. C., and stopped the Jays on their home court by a 58-53 score. Jim Lacy racked up twin scores of 22 points in each game to rank first in Loyola scoring.

HOPKINS

Before a full house at the Homewood gym, Loyola took its fourth Mason-Dixon Conference basketball engagement by downing Johns Hopkins by a 58-53 score. Jim Lacy garnered high scoring honors for the evening with 22 points. It was the third consecutive contest in which Lacy tallied 22.

Hopkins, out to repeat its upset win over the Greyhounds in 1947, had trouble in finding the basket in the early minutes, and Loyola was away to a 7-0 lead before the Jays scored. From this point, however, until approximately three minutes to go, Hopkins kept within seven points of the leaders.

Lacy Scores 11 In First Half

Loyola held a 10-5 lead at the close of the first quarter, and moved to a 28-22 bulge at the half. Lacy scored 11 of his tallies in this tenure, adding his last two field goals within a minute of the halftime whistle.

The Howdy Meyers' crew with all of its supposedly injured players in action, made a determined effort to overhaul the Reitzmen midway of the third period, and still was within reach at the third quarter mark. The score was 41-35.

Loyola Gains 13-Point Lead

After a few minutes of goal exchanging in the final quarter, Loyola rolled up a 13 point lead that Hopkins failed to overcome. Chief contributors were Lacy, Mike Zedalis, Bill Johnson and Vince Gallagher. It was Gallagher's right hander off the pivot, and Johnson's one hand push shot that put the Greyhounds out of reach.

Although they were unable to overtake the Loyola lead, the Hopkins cagers threw a scare into the Hounds. Rallying for eight quick points with only a half minute to go, the Homewood five tried desperately to score again, and Reitz rushed Mike Zedalis and Lacy back into the game. The Hounds gained possession and froze the ball for the remaining time.

A. A. Installs New Press Box

Newest addition to the gymnasium facilities is the press box which was installed two weeks ago by the Athletic Office. The box, situated on the south side above the seats in the gym, can accommodate eleven persons, and is being used by members of the sports staffs of the various local newspapers and representatives of THE GREYHOUND.

The A. A. plans to install telephones in the box in the near future, adding convenience for the local sports scribes. In addition, movies of the games are being taken from the booth by Neil Cole.

CATHOLIC U.

Disregarding completely the efforts of a partisan Cardinal crowd to disturb his point making, Jim Lacy paced Loyola to a nifty 72-50 Mason-Dixon Conference basketball win over Catholic University on the losers' floor.

Early in the first quarter, the Catholic U. rooters were on Lacy's neck, shouting every time he touched the ball. After he scored on two straight set shots, however, the crowd quieted itself and sat back to watch Lacy lead his mates to a decisive win.

Although taken out with 13 minutes remaining, the Hound ace scored 22 points, with eight field goals and six for six at the foul line. Lacy made all six of his attempted set shots from outside.

It was never a contest after Lefty Reitz's boys began hitting the cords consistently early in the second quarter. Gene Sklarz and George Lauerbacher, the home team's two chief marksmen, kept the cords busy and wound up with eleven and ten points, respectively.

Mike Zedalis garnered ten points to stand second in the Hounds' scoring. Reitz sent his entire squad into action in the contest.

in the final minute to make the final score 61-49.

Main reason for Villanova's loss was the team's showing at the foul line. The visitors were successful on only nine of 25 attempts, while Loyola made 15 of 28 tries.

Lacy and Zedalis each scored six field goals, the former sinking four fouls to the latter's three for his one point advantage.

Dunkel Rating

According to the nation-wide rating sheet "Converse Dunkel", Loyola stands seventh in the approximately sixty-five team college area of Pennsylvania-Maryland-Delaware-D. C.

The sheet issued at the close of the week of January 17 also shows that the Greyhounds rank approximately 100th in the entire nation, which includes at least 700 colleges. A comparison may be gained by noting the figure allotted to poll leaders N. Y. U., 78.9, and Loyola's 55.4. Recent Hound wins should up this rating, based on past performances, and considering strength of opponents and difference in points between winner and loser.

TELL YOU WHAT WE'RE GONNA DO—Lefty Reitz takes time out during B Squad practice to chat with Whitey Welsh, Rip Roberts, John Bailey and Ed Hughes. The team has won eight and lost three.

Lefty Reitz's B Squad Has Impressive Record

Varsity basketball games aren't scheduled to begin until 8:45 when the Hounds play at the home Evergreen court, but an increasing number of fans have been arriving quite early before recent games.

Reason for this move is the B Squad basketball outfit, which, under the coaching of Lefty Reitz, has become a potent aggregation in comparison with similar teams which Loyola has put on the floor in past seasons.

Team Has 3 Thrillers

The team has posted a winning record of 8 and 3 at this writing, with three of its games proving very thrilling at the closing moments. The tilt with Loyola High went into overtime before the junior Hounds took a 36-35 win, and the Hopkins game was thrill-packed at the close. Jack Simanski, one of the team's outstanding performers, had two foul shots with one second to go and the score 46 to 44 in Hopkins' favor. Simanski missed the first foul and Loyola elected to take the ball out of bounds. Simanski grabbed the ball and let go with a long one-hander as the whistle blew. The ball hit the inner rim and rebounded away.

The third close tilt was with Calvert Hall's Cardinals, which finally wound up with the Hounds on top, 38-32. The winners were behind throughout, then staged a late rally to grab the win.

Experienced Men

Reitz has a number of cagers who saw extensive action in high school, and he feels that his entire squad is composed of above-average material.

The starting combination which Reitz has employed so far this year has Ed Hughes and Jack Whalen at the forwards, Rip Roberts at center, and Simanski and John Bailey at guards. This has proven to be a high scoring bunch, so much so, that Lefty has been able to give his reserves plenty of action.

Numerous Reserves

These substitutes, who have done ample scoring on their own accord, include Reds Lambert, Jack Doyle, Jack Schanberger, Whitey Welsh, Ed McKelvy, Dick Reese, Jim Baker, Jack Stetlik, and Tom Lind.

One of the innovations in which the junior Greyhounds are involved is the newly formed Mason-Dixon B Squad Basketball League. This circuit, formed at the conference's fall meeting, includes most of the schools participating in varsity play. Playoffs will be held at the end of the season.

T. C. Beaten

Major win in the team's record, exclusive of the conference matches was the 41-33 drubbing given Towson Catholic. The Owls, considered one of the outstanding prep schools in the city, have won all other contests at this writing.

Reitz employs the deliberate style of offense which he stresses with the varsity. Bailey and Hughes have been the team's high scorers, both being adept on set shots and one handers.

Wrestling

Maryland Wins, 19-9

A far superior University of Maryland wrestling team easily conquered Loyola's grapplers, 19 to 9, on January 24, for its fourth victory in five starts this season.

The match was held on the Evergreen mats, and found the Greyhound maulers still seeking their initial win of the campaign. Coach Phil Goodman's boys have suffered setbacks in two encounters thus far.

Five Terps Win

Five of the Terp wrestlers ran up the victory flag, two of them pinning their adversaries to the canvas. On the opposite side of the ledger, the Loyola lads eased on top in three classes.

Feature event of the program turned out to be the windup staged by the heavies. Jeep Mueller, of Loyola, captured a 7 to 6 decision over Chris Matthews, after the match went into two overtime periods. With the tussle tied at 4-all at the end of regulation time, Mueller gained an advantage in the first extra session, and clinched the matter in the final.

Weiss Victorious

Jack Weiss, Loyola 121-pounder, came through with the most impressive of the local victories, taking a 9-6 decision over Ed Sacory.

Reliable Mus Bower, 155-pound captain of the Evergreen squad, decided Jim Phoebe, 4-2, to turn in the other victory.

121-pound—Weiss, Loyola, decided Savory, 9-6.

128-pound—Framm, Maryland, pinned Boulay, 7-10.

136-pound class—Curny, Maryland, decided Enoch, 9-3.

145-pound class—Scott, Maryland, pinned Krizan, 4-30.

155-pound class—Bower, Loyola, decided Phoebe, 4 to 2.

175-pound class—Marscheck, Maryland, decided Beese, 4-1.

Unlimited class—Mueller, Loyola, decided Matthews, 7-6, (overtime).

Hopkins Next

Johns Hopkins' wrestlers will play host to the Evergreen matmen on February 4 in the varsity's first Mason-Dixon Conference match. Following this clash at Homewood, Loyola will wrestle Gallaudet and Washington College.

Meet the Faculty

Snyder Teaches Latin, English

Mr. David Snyder

This week's Meet the Faculty presents Mr. David Snyder, professor of Latin and English in the Day School and an instructor in evening classes at Loyola. He was graduated from the University of Detroit High School in 1939 and received his A. B. from Loyola University of Chicago in 1943.

Mr. Snyder joined the Army in March, 1946 and served with the Counter Intelligence Corps until August, 1947.

In September, 1947, he became a member of the faculty, and plans to continue his teaching career here. Last November Mr. Snyder was married to Miss Patricia Kelly at St. Cecilia's church in Baltimore.

'48 Annual Is Dedicated To Miss McDonald, Registrar

by Ferd Leimkuhler

J. Allan Panuska, editor-in-chief of the '48 Evergreen, announced last week that nearly all the copy for the forthcoming Yearbook has gone to the printers. Publication of the annual is scheduled for May 15.

Because of the overwhelming preference indicated in a senior class poll, the 1948 Yearbook will be dedicated to Miss Catherine H. McDonald, who has held the post of Registrar at Loyola for fifteen years.

Ad Returns Disappointing

Despite very disappointing returns in the advertising campaign, the business staff, headed by Samuel Hasson, Jr., will meet the $3,000 publication bill. Much needed financial support was contributed by Neil Cole, who directed a successful student-patron drive. The senior class, at a recent meeting, voted unanimously to support the Yearbook by securing additional funds by a class tax if necessary. The Yearbook staff is still accepting ads and patron donations.

'43 Grads Plan Reunion Sunday

The Fifth Anniversary Reunion of the Class of January, 1943, will be held in the Oak Room at Evergreen on Sunday, February 1. The Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., President of Loyola College, and members of the Faculty have also been invited to attend.

Arrangements for the reunion are in the hands of August O. Hennegan, Jr., and George J. Miller. They have contacted all members of the class and also have made arrangements for special guests to attend.

Among the special guests scheduled to be present is Dennis Mello. Mr. Mello is a special officer working with the Eastern Community Committee on Juvenile Delinquency numerous sketches and photographs. The art staff includes William Grill, Edward Vidali, John Hohman, Bernard Morenz, John Scrimger and James Bradley. John Phillips and James Bowen are photographers for the Yearbook.

Theodore Heying has charge of all senior write-ups. John Plunkett and Richard Rebbert complete the editorial staff.

Mullikin Wins Transit Co.'s Talent Contest Over WBAL

Bill Mullikin, Loyola's well-known musical comedy man, won the weekly Baltimore Transit Company Talent Contest broadcast on Station WBAL on Sunday, January 11. As a result of his win, Bill will be given a one week's professional engagement at the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel in Baltimore.

In addition to his engagement, Bill will also make several tests on local television programs. If these tests are successful, he will be employed as a full time television man.

Attended Poly

A graduate of Poly, where he gained fame in the Poly Follies, Bill has appeared in two Loyola Nights with his original act. He also has taken leading roles in several operettas presented by the Alamedian Light Opera Company.

During the past summer, he did stock company work in Duxbury, Mass. He is a former member of the Hilltop Theatre group.

Plans Career

After his graduation from Loyola, Bill plans to enter the theatrical field as a musical comedy man.

In order to win the contest, Bill had to emerge the winner in five sets of eliminations.

Playing in Victor Herbert's "Red Mill," Mullikin portrayed the leading comedy man and was forced to repeat the song and dance routine for The Sidewalks of New York four times by audience demand.

Taught Dances

Bill directed several of the dance numbers which were presented in "My Maryland" last year by the Alamedian Light Opera Company. He also took part in one of them.

In the last Loyola Night program, Mullikin planned and directed the all-male chorus number and also did an original song skit.

Debaters Book Two Contests Next Week

The Bellarmine Debating Society will inaugurate its 1948 spring schedule with a debate with St. Peter's College, New Jersey. The debate will take place on Wednesday, February 4, at 4 p. m. Winston Kourey and Edward Shea will represent Loyola on the negative of the National Debating topic, Resolved: that a Federal World Government Be Established.

This debate will be followed up by a contest with Washington College on Friday of the same week. Francis X. Gallagher and Donald E. Fay will uphold the negative for the College.

Mr. William-M. J. Driscoll, S. J., moderator of the society, stated that he expects to conduct at least thirty-five debates with various colleges in the East during the coming semester.

Bailey Resigns Senior NFCCS Position Here

James P. Bailey, Loyola's Senior Delegate to the National Federation of Catholic College Students, resigned his position last week. In explaining his action, Bailey stated that he did not believe that he could do a worthwhile job during the coming semester due to increased classes and demands on his time.

As yet, the new Senior Delegate has not been appointed. Edward O. Clarke and Eugene Corrigan are the Junior Delegates.

Dance Successful

Bailey announced that the NFCCS Dance held on January 10 netted seven hundred dollars. While expressing disappointment at the response, Bailey stated that the dance itself was a successful one.

Over 250 couples danced to the music of Bill Maisel and his Orchestra.

Winners Named

The winner in the disposal of the television radio was Father Kearney of Emmitsburg, Md.; of the portable radio, Joseph Buedel; and of the third prize, Mrs. John Dengler.

The radio script contest is still in progress and all students are invited to send in their scripts.

Loyola College has been offered a commission in dramatics for the organization, but it has not yet been decided whether it will accept. The representatives expressed the hope that the student body would take an active interest and put forth suggestions.
